Pastor's Corner

As you prepare for Sunday by reading the Gospel, a question:

Which is easier for you? To love a missionary on the other side of the world, or your family and neighbor that lives close by—close enough to annoy you?

We tend to love humanity in a general abstract sense, but struggle with loving a particular human—especially this one annoying me right now!

CS Lewis once observed that God calls us to love our neighbor and to love our enemy—because often they are the same person!

So, is it true? That familiarity breeds Contempt?

“Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph?” In other words, “Who does he think he is? He grew up here, we know exactly who he is!” You can almost see their eyes rolling.

But they’re wrong, and their first words betray it: Jesus is the “son of Joseph.” This assumption was probably safest while Jesus was growing up, but the time has come to risk speaking the full truth: “Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me. And they shall all be taught by God.”

They’d seen him skin his knee, and lose at childhood games. They couldn’t honestly malign his character. But there’s something about going from childhood into adult leadership that must be done with authority to be accepted. Jesus did it with complete authority, yet he didn’t convince his own neighbors. As he noted with sadness, a prophet is honored everywhere but his hometown.

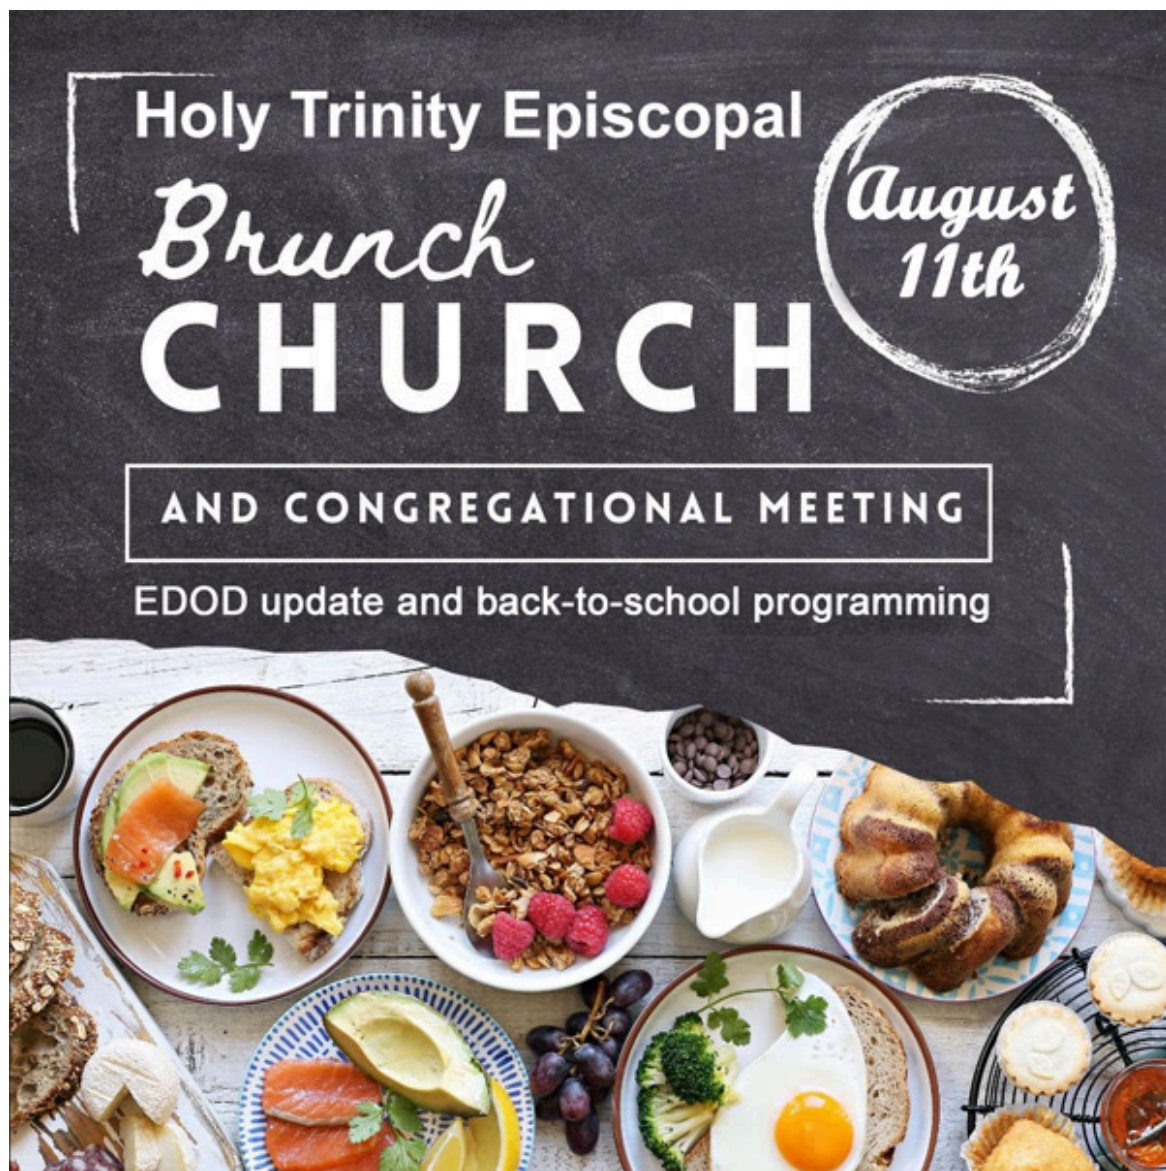

What else do we miss due to familiarity? Do we miss the wisdom of our parents because we’ve heard it a hundred times before? Do we miss the sweet gift of coffee or tea because we have it every morning? And do we miss the sacred staple of eternal life because we see it every Sunday—so small to our eyes, yet bigger than heaven and earth?

God enjoys the paradox of delivering big gifts in small, familiar boxes. Let’s watch for them—together—starting Sunday at 9am.

I’ll see you then.

Your pastor,
Fr. MC+

August 11th “State of the Union”

After the worship service, we would love for you to join us for a delicious brunch in the fellowship hall. During brunch, we will be providing an update on our current status with the Episcopal Diocese of Dallas (EDOD) as well as sharing all the exciting details about our upcoming back-to-school programming. Sunday brunch potluck:

Father Matthew and Julianna Crownover make Mexican breakfast casserole. If you would like to contribute, we welcome fruit, juice, or anything you think would be good to go along with it.

So far we've got:

Maryilyn Turnbull bringing breakfast bread.

Ginger Fultz and Robin bringing fruit.

Kiki Gravley Blueberry cake donuts

What will YOU bring?
